

Price with insight and confidence

We offer bespoke and matrix pricing engines using our Pricing Engine Software, P-PE, for gas and power. We provide our clients with complete control and auditability of all price components through a flexible decision making process.

To ensure that prices are as precise as possible, our Pricing Engine software always calculates at a half hourly level for electricity, or daily for gas, regardless of the meter type. This means our pricing calculation mirrors the method suppliers are charged. All the half hourly data used to calculate prices is stored for future reporting, giving complete transparency and clarity of your financial position with the numbers and decisions behind it. It also enables automated validation of incoming industry charges in our settlements module.
